The Year Conductor of the Philadelphia

PRILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.-The nighth seath this afternor n's concert in the Acad Music in a manner which must have brought real joy to the hearts of the patient properties of the city's chief musical pride. a through good report and evil report, and last spring when Fritz Scheel, the conductor, died suddenly and his place had to to taken at a moment's notice by a visiting manist. Otto N itsel of Cologne, the cup of misfortune seemed to overflow. But out of suffering comes strength, and the backers of the orchestra set about finding a new

At one time it looked as if the choice might erprets the gospel of the masters to Worcenter, Mass., but in the end it was wisely deemed necessary to give the enterprise a relebrity from Germany. In recent years the price of celebrities in that artistic land has risen wonderfully, and since conductors of the prima donna type have come into vogue wielders of batons demand salaries almost as large as those asked by fancy financiers. At last the available man was found in Stuttgart, and it was to welcome his first appearance to-day that Philadelphia turned out an audience which packed the Academy of Music and which crowned the newcomer with a triumph of approval.

Carl Pohlig is the new conductor's name. He was born in 1864 in Teplitz, where Wagner sketched his "Liebesverbot" and finished spent his boyhood in Weimar, where Liszt did more things than should be mentioned. and after graduation from the gymnasium studied two terms in the University of Gottingen. He studied piano under Liszt and in later life travelled with him. He toured as a pianist and became conductor at Gratz. He has been associated with Mahler and has held important posts at Covent Garden and at Bayreuth. In Coburg and Stuttgart he entered the field of symphonic direction, and he has led some concerts of the Berlin Philharmonic.

Still in the vigor of maturity, equipped with a broad and intensely modern schooling, but by reason of the tutelage of Liszt not wanting in reverence for the classics. experienced in both operatic and symphonic fields and inured to the whimsies of many sided publics, from the Viennese to the British, the new conductor comes to Philadelphia no superfluous veteran lagging on the stage, but yet a trained exponent of his subtle and exacting craft.

His initial programme was confined to the works of two masters, Beethoven and Wagner. The first was represented by his "Fidelio" and "Leonore, No. III." overtures and his fifth symphony, the second by his "Meistersinger" prelude, Siegfried Idyll" and "Tannhäuser" overture. That these were all tried battle horses of Mr. Pohlig was proved by his conducting all of them without score. That he knew the works intimately was shown not more by the adequacy of his memory than by the nice judgment he displayed in tempering his readings to the capacities of the instrument at his

The Philadelphia Orchestra is far from meeting all the demands of this discriminating period. As is altogether too common among orchestras, the intonation is frequently trying to the accurate musical ear, while the quality of tone is rarely brilliant and almost never noble.

Mr. Pohlig is not yet on intimate terms with the splendid acoustics of the Academy of Music. When he becomes so he will not direct his horns to play "bells up" in the big phrase of the last movement of the fifth, nor will he invite the fullest powers of his trumpets and trombones. Here at least he can and undoubtedly will cover up some of the poorer tone, but until radical changes are made in the constitution of the orchestra it will be impossible for him to evoke either mellowness of quality or fidelity to the pitch from his blowers of

But beyond question he will make this orchestra play better than it has ever played before. He has knowledge, temperament and experience. The skill with which he managed certain compulsory shadings today, shadings made compulsory by the necessity of placing some hazardous passages well within the technical resources of his players, was admirable. On the other hand, the quickness with which he seized upon every available opportunity to emphasize the better qualties of his men was equally a demonstration of his accomplishments as a routinier.

It is not likely that the exact measure of his character as a conductor could be taken at to-day's concert. In the "ride" of the "Leonore" overture he hazarded a most impetuous tempo and in the end justified it, but the beginning of the passage was merely fast and nothing else. The reading of the overture as a whole was that of a conductor who has studied Beethoven with love, deep sensibility and sincere respect. It was built on broad and dignified lines It showed no cheap search after sensational effects. If it was not profound in emotion it was at least elevated in manner. If it lacked poignancy it was not wanting in If it sang not Leonore's woe it voiced her courage and her devotion.

The symphony was read in the same dignified and reverential manner, with strength, breadth and aspiration. Here and there, no doubt, more incisiveness might have been imparted by the employment of a less deliberate tempo and certainly few connoisseurs could have welcomed the emphasized retarding of the closing staccato chords. On the other hand the pace at which the finale was played brought out its intensity and power much better than the faster one so often Throughout both compositions Mr. Pohlig appeared to seek for pointed dramatic accent rather than for elasticity in the more intimate details of the melos But here again he was doubtless hampered by the capacity of his instrument.

The "Meistersinger" prelude was given with honest appreciation of its buoyant and inspiring spirit, but the colors were all hid on in broad wash and the lights were not high. A far better performance was that of the captivating "Siegfried Idyll." Here indeed the conductor succeeded in infusing sufficient warmth into his men to melt the tone of the strings. The work was excellently phrased and accentuated throughout and the exquisite close was played with a beautiful balance, a tendernot previously exhibited and a finish quite unexpected. Phindelphia is to be congratulated on the advent of Mr. Pohlig. The city is now provided with a musical interpreter of real her music lovers and benefit her orchestra.

A NEW MUSICAL GENERAL

PRILADELPHIA'S WELCOME TO

CARL POBLIG.

The New Conductor of the Philadelphia

The New Conductor of the Philade

COLLAPSED AT MEARING.

Woman Arrested in Kidnapping Desirous of Shielding Family. The examination of May Bradley, the woman charged with complicity in the kid-napping of Carleton Kremer, the five-yearold adopted sen of Dr. Geza Kremer, who was seized by his mother, Mrs. Maud Clark, on October 14 and taken to Boston, ended abruptly yesterday when the Bradley woman fell into a state of coma. The doc tors pronounced it a form of epilepsy.

The woman had to be carried from Magistrate Wahle's private room, where the hear-

The woman had to be carried from Magnetrate Wahle's private room, where the hearing was held. She revived later and was taken home. Magistrate Wahle adjourned the examination until Monday.

The examination until Monday.

The examination had gone on smoothly until Assistant District Attorney Krotel asked the Bradley woman who were her parents. This question she refused to answer and when pressed appealed to Magistrate Wahle. The Magistrate, however, in spite of the vigorous protests of Miss Bradley's lawyer, Julius Cohen, sustained Mr. Krotel. Miss Bradley at length said that her father's name was Patrick and that he was connected with the New York Electric Light Company. When pressed for further information about her parents she went into hysterics, begging not to be forced to bring her family into the affair. She said between her sobs that she had three sisters and that her parents had gone travelling especially to be rid of the notoriety.

District Attorney Krotel and Magistrate Wahle insisted that she give her father's residence, whereupon she relapsed into semi-unconsciousness. Mrs. Soulley, the Tombs police court probation officer, was summoned and succeeded in reviving her sufficiently for her to be carried into another room.

In her examination Miss Bradley denied other room.

In her examination Miss Bradley denied all complicity in the kidnapping. She said that Mrs. Clark had asked her to go with her to see her baby and that she had in no way interfered with Miss Kremer, from whom the child was taken. Miss Kremer, however, testified that when Mrs. Clark had taken the child from her at Sixty-fifth street and Lexington avenue Miss Bradley had prevented her from following Mrs. Clark.

Clark.

Miss Bradley, who was neatly dressed and exceedingly attractive, appears to be a woman of considerable refinement. After the examination it was rumored that she is a granddaughter of Daniel Magone, formerly Collector of the Port of New York.

HAD TO BE IN TO-DAY'S GAME, So Barbour, Arrested for Traffe Violation, Said-A Joke, Maybe.

William Barbour, 19 years old, son of the thread manufacturer, living at 11 West Fifty-third street, was arrested at Times Square last night by Policeman Coster of the traffic squad charged with violating the rules of the road. Barbour, who had two young women in his big touring car, was going up Seventh avenue near car, was going up Seventh avenue near the west curb, and when Coster held him up and told him he was under arrest for not observing the traffic regulations the young man said he was in a hurry to get his companions home. He pleaded that he be allowed to go, but the cop was obdurate and ordered him to drive to the West Forty-seventh street station.
When arraigned before the lieutenant Barbour said that he was a member of the Princeton football team and was scheduled to play in a game to-day, and that uled to play in a game to-day, and that under no consideration could be fail to be on hand. As security for his appearance in court this morning he deposited with the lieutenant a gold watch which he said the lieutenant a gold watch which he said was a family heirloom and worth $500. He was then allowed to go.

According to the Princetonian, which in this week's issue prints the lineup for to-day's game, there is no player of the name of Barbour at Princeton.

HAZING AT TRINITY COLLEGE. Freshman Beaten by Sophomores for Not Obeying Orders.

NEW HAVEN Oct. 18 .- The entire undergraduate body of Trinity College, Hartford, is stirred up over a complaint which has just been made to the faculty of the college by A. D. Berman, an "ol clo" man, who alleges that his son, William Berman, a freshman, was hazed by a score or more of sophomores the past week.

Berman refused to attend a freshman class meeting early in the week and on his way home met a party of sophomores. his way home met a party of sophomores, who ordered him to turn back. Instead of obeying he put his thumb to his nose and twirled his fingers, whereupon the sophomores attacked him and knocked him down, beating him severely. He upbraided them for their cowardice in not attacking him singlehanded and was set upon again, being forced finally, badly bruised and battered, to obey orders and walk to the meeting.

walk to the meeting.

After reporting the matter to the faculty the father of the freshman was waited upon by the sophomores, who urged him to withdraw his complaint. He agreed to do so, but the faculty refused to let the matter drop, declaring that they would investigate the affair fully.

SUES TO ANNUL MARRIAGE.

Mrs. Carr Says Her Daughter Was Under 16 When She Married E. K. Rogers. On the application of Mrs. Grace E.

Carr. Justice Blanchard of the Supreme Court named yesterday Frank Hendrick as referee to take testimony and report in the suit brought by Mrs. Carr, as legal in the suit brought by Mrs. Carr, as legal guardian of her daughter, Katharine, for the annulment of the latter's marriage to Edward Kendall Rogers three years ago. Mrs. Carr alleges that her daughter did not attain the age of 16 till nine days after the wedding. Rogers and the girl have never lived together according to Mrs. Carr, who asserts further that her son-inger has taken a trip around the world

Carr, who asserts further that her son-in-law has taken a trip around the world and was last heard of in Japan. Rogers is a son of Mrs. Mary E. Rogers of 80 East Seventy-seventh street. Rogers, while appearing by counsel engaged by his mother, has not yet personally entered any defence to the action.

LIFE TERM FOR SEX CRIME. Man Who Abused a Little Girl Sentenced to the Limit. CHICAGO, Oct. 18.-Michael Maher was to-day found guilty of mistreatment of Josephine McGuckins, an eleven-year-old South Chicago girl, and sentenced to imprisonment in the Joliet penitentiary for life. Attorneys said that a life sentence for that crime is so rare in this country that they could remember no previous one.

Judge Barnes overruled a motion for a new trial and one for arrest of judgment. Josephine McGuckins is the daughter of a widow in whose home Maher was a POWDER EXPLOSION A PUZZLE. Experts Find Their Theories Discounted by the Fontanet Catastrophe.

FONTANET, Ind., Oct. 18.--Powder men from all parts of the country are here today to study the cause and effect of last Tuesday's explosion. So far. they say, the affair is a mystery.

All theories of safety in building a powder mill in a depression have been spoiled.

The Fontanet mill was in a ravine that had only one opening. It was thought the walls of the ravine would imprison the force of any amount of powder or dynamite, but when the experts looked at the town to-day they shook their heads and said that a depressed plant is no safer than one built on a level.

GETTING JOBS FOR BRAINS

SOME FACTS ON RECORD ABOUT HOW KAPGOODS DOES IT.

Must First Put Up 65 for a Pamphiet

The Roles for Landing a Subscriber
All Bown to a Little Bosh—The Raperience of One Subscriber Told.

Mappoods, a concern styling itself 'an organization of brain brokers' and which is virtually an employment agency advertising to place good men who work with their brains instead of their hands in jobs, appeared yesterday before Commissioner of Licenses Bogart in answer to a complaint made by James L. Crawford against the concern's method of doing business. The hearing lasted all day and was not constituted.

cluded,
Crawford, who was formerly a lawyer of Glasgow, Scotland, alleges that from his own experience and the experiences of others whom he knows the method of the concern is to collect from all applicants for employment $6, in return for which it sends for one year a small pamphlet issued monthly entitled Happoods Opportunities. This contains a list of some of the places waiting for brains which the concern has to fill. It is further alleged in the complaint that Happoods insists upon this payment of $6 before doing anything with any application for employment and with any application for employment and that this constitutes a violation of the employment agency law, which says that not more than 5 per cent. of the first year's salary can be charged by such an agency. Hapgoods charges 5 per cent. of the first year's salary when it lands a job for any ago. It is said that Hapgoods Opportunities now is sent to upward of 38,000 persons. H. J. Hapgood is the president of the concern. It has offices in all of the principal cities of this country and in Glasgow and London as Hapgoods Limited. The principal office is at 305 Broadway.

number of witnesses testified before the Commissioner yesterday as to the $5 subscription fee being demanded of applicants before anything was done for them no matter that brains they seemed to have. C. N. Parker, a former employee of Hapgoods, testified that the officers of the concern had instructed the employees to refuse all applicants unless they forked over $5 for Opportunities and that so far as he knew the brain brokers never had placed any brains unless the owner of them had subscribed first in this manner If a man refused to pay for the magazine the card filled out for him went on the "dead file." In a great deal of the concern's literature stress is laid upon the number of places looking for brain workers. Lawyer Bradbury, counsel for the concern, apparently hard to get Mr. Parker to testify that there were more brain places than brain workers in the land, but the witness said that, so far as he knew, there never was a time when the number of places open was as large as the number of applicants. There were some unfilled places. he said. One of those he recollected called for an "expert accountant" at $10 a week.

Crawford, in relating his experiences said that he had noticed last May an advertisement calling for a man to act as an assistant to the president of several large concerns in the Pittsburg district who could "attend to stock issues and negotiate with banks." The salary was to be from $3,000 to $5,000. Mr. Crawford, who was then in Newfoundland, cabled the concern that such a job would just suit him and got an application blank back calling for $5 as subscription for the magazine, which he sent. Later, after he had given which he sent. Later, after he had given up the $5, he got a letter stamped with the name of H. J. Hapgood.

"I have just been looking over the papers in your case," this went on to say, "and note that your age is given as 50. I trust that in the correspondence leading up to your subscription it was made perfectly clear to you that the tendency of the large business houses which we serve is to employ younger men. Frequently, however, the experience which comes with years is sought and in these cases we can place a man of your age. We write this so that you may not subscribe under any misapprehension.

Crawford said that he came to New York and was unable to find that the concern was doing anything for him and then demanded the return of the $5 subscription. This was refused. He said that he had received only a few copies of "Opportunities."

It turned out at the hearing that the received only a few copies of "Opportunities."

It turned out at the hearing that the brain brokers have two copyrighted books for the exclusive use of employees. One is "Hapgoods Manual" and the other "Hapgoods Idea." H. J. Hapgood and M. B. Wiley, secretary of the company, are the compilers of these volumes, which were produced by the counsel for the concern and put in the record at the request of Lawyer Hirschberg, Crawford's counsel, who contended that the books would show that the $5 subscription to the magazine was merely a scheme for obtaining $5 more than the legal fee. In the preface of "Hapgoods Idea" is this:

The contents of this book are too valuable"

The contents of this book are too valuable to the organization to be made public. Each man will be held personally responsible the copy furnished him, and under no consideration is it to be allowed to leave

The book purports to give in narrative form the model way of landing a subscriber. After giving an idea of how to get a man looking for a good job interested by telling him of the many opportunities that exist for just such brains as his the narrator goes on to show the correct way of getting a subscription thus:

At this point I took one of the pink applica the first page handed it to him opened up the contract but a blank space for him to fill in, which usually appeals to a man.

Later on in the story of what took place one bright morning when the real agent of the brain brokers approached a man with brains there is this incident:

At this point Mr. Jones offered his first objection, saying, "The proposition seems to be a pretty good one, but I do not like the ides of paying for something before I get it."
"It is true," Mr. Jones, I replied, "that you have to new our subscription for before we have to pay our subscription fee before we begin efforts in your behalf. The very fact, however, that we make no profit until we place you makes it for our interest to use every effort to find the sort of opportunity you desire. Another point to be remembered is that if we did not charge this fee we would be overrun with such a multitude of undesirable people that men of your calibre would be loath to have anything to do with us."

In another place "Hapgood's Idea" I always try to put the matter in this light right at the start—that we want a man because we think he is a man we can place, but you will notice that I said nothing which he could by any stretch of imagination interpret as a guarantee that we would place him. "Hapgood's Manual" appeared to be a model letter writer, containing forms of all kinds of letters which might be needed, such as "First Dun Letter," "Second Dun Letter," "Kick Letter No. 4." "Turn Down Letter," &c. "No. 62," for instance, was entitled "Publication Men." and read: "Se many calls for managers, editors, reporters and artists are coming to us from the leading magazines, newspapers, trade journals and publishing houses we are giving increased attention to this branch of our service." It went on to state that the brain brokers could offer many opportunities to men efficient in this line,

Football. Stevens vs. Johns Hopkins, Oct. 18, Castle Point Field, Hopoken, N. J.—Ade, BRIDGE GUARD WAS SLOW. Took Haif a Minute to Pull Bell Cord - Tie Up Traine Haif an Hour.

A thirty-five minute block of all the Brooklyn Bridge shuttle trains during the rush hour last night was distinguished by the first jucid and comprehensive explanation of such an occurrence ever made public. At five minutes after 8 o'clock, according to Amistant Bridge Engineer Lane, a shuttle train standing at the Brooklyn end received the signal to switch. This signal has to be transmitted the length.

been accomplished.

In the meantime a very large caste indeed was busy at the Manhattan end of the bridge enacting that famous drama—The Big Jam; or. The Main Squeeze.

COLUMBIA AND HONOR SYSTEM. Students Approve of Action Taken by the Columbia students are in favor of the action of the Yale seniors in refusing to adopt the honor system in the classroom and at examinations. An editorial in the Columbia Speciator vesterday says that "no better standard can be upheld by any class in any university than that which the Yale seniors have adopted."

The editorial says in part:

In taking their stand against the adoption of the honor system the seniors of Yale University have placed themselves in a unique position before the intercollegiate world and the public generally. Their action this week will doubtless call forth a good deal of discussion among those interested, and in all likelihood arouse the ire of the advocates of the system. But whatever attitude people may choose to take in the matter no one can spirit of sincere conviction which has characterized the decision of the Yale senior class The proctor system of supervision is in general use at Columbia. In a few cases professors have tried the honor system, but it has never been successful.

A B. R. T. COMPANY GUILTY. Terminal Development Co's, Smoking Power House a Nulsan

A jury in the County Court, Brooklyn, resterday brought in a verdict finding the Terminal Development Company, a subsidiary of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, guilty of maintaining a nuisance at its power house on Kent avenue near Division avenue. Dozens of witnesses testified that cinders and soot covered the sidewalks and window sills and that it was impossible to keep one's linen and clothing clean on account of it. One wit-ness testified that his watch had stopped because the cinders got in it.

As soon as the verdict was announced counsel asked for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was against the weight of evidence. Judge Fawcett reserved deci-

The charge against the company constitutes a misdemeanor. It is punishable by a fine of $500 and compels the absolute abatement of the nuisance. Unless the fine is promptly paid and the nuisance abated the Sheriff may step in and take charge of the power house.

FIREWATER'S SAD EFFECT On Shinnecock Brave, Who Doesn't Like the Local Kind.

Fred Stephen, a full blooded Indian of the Shinnecock tribe, was in the Yorkville police court vesterday on a charge of intoxication. Detective Galligan of the Fifth. street station said that the Indian seemed to think he was on the warpath late Thursday night as he made his way down Fifth street with a load of corn juice on board and let out occasional warwhoops that aroused the neighborhood

"You had better let the white man's fire-water alone. It's too strong for an indian," Magistrate Herrman remarked to the

"I can stand the Long Island drink all right, but New York whiskey is too much for me," the Indian responded.

"As you come from the first American families I'll discharge you," announced the Court.
The Indian thanked his Honor, bowed and left the court.

WILL ACCEPT MESSAGES. Marconi Satisfied With Beginnings of

Commercial Wireless. HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 18 .- "I am perfectly satisfied," said Mr. Marconi to-day when asked about the results of yesterday's work of his wireless telegraph system. "We are now prepared to accept a limited ber of transatlantic messages for smission. The bulk of our messages to-day came from the newspapers.

One message, however, addressed to the British people from the Premier of Canada, was sent yesterday, while two were received from the Canadian Commissioner in London, Lord Strathcona. I am not permitted to give the text of these messages, though I may say they are all of a congratulatory nature." congratulatory nature."
Mr. Marconi said that over 10,000 words had been received and sent and not a single word had to be repeated. Within a few days, he added, a press service would be inaugu-rated between the towers and ships at sea.

DEMANDS $30,000 DAMAGES.

Glens Falls Man Sues Spencer Trask for Injuries Received in Auto Accident.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 18.-Spencer Trask, the New York banker, is defendan in a suit for $50,000 in the Supreme Court here by Dennis McCarthy of Glens Falls a shirt manufacturer, who alleges that he was knocked down and injured by Mr. Trask's automobile last July as he was alighting from a passenger coach of the Hudson Valley Railroad, near Bloody Pond The complainant alleges that the automobile passed over his body, after which the tourists, without stopping to inquire as to his injuries, continued their journey. McCarthy is said to have refused an offer of settlement which ran up into the thou

NEAR ZERO IN CANADA. Extreme Cold in the Northwest, but Very

Mild in the East. MONTREAL, Oct. 18.-The Canadian Northwest is experiencing a taste of winter weather. This morning it was 14 degrees above zero at Winnipeg, while at Dawson City the thermometer registered 4 degrees below.

below.

In Eastern Canada, throughout the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, the weather has been summerlike. Wants to Succeed John Mitchell.

Indianapolis, Oct. 18.—Thomas L. Lewis, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America, has formally declared his candidacy for the presidency of the organization to succeed President John Mitchell, who has announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection.

John Leehan of 545 West Forty-eighth street, who was shot on Thursday night by Detective Beardon of District Attorney Jerome's staff after Leehan had knocked Reardon down, was indicted yesterday for assault and for carrying a concealed weapon. Leehan was not badly hurt and will be arraigned on Monday.

WOMEN DISCUSS MANY TOPICS

NOT THE LEAST BEING THE INI-TIATIVE AND REPERSENDUM.

Ideate Versan, Who VIII Tell Nove Man, Who Decar't Love Acything Alous M —Aubjects Like Pasteurised Milk and Charter Revision Also Mapased Of.

The fourteenth convention of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs was held yesterday at the Hotel Astor. that of the afternoon but three hours, the subjects of woman's suffrage, the revision of the city Charter, the preservation of the flag, "welfare work," civic improvement, the rescue of the juvenile negro criminal in Alabama, a federation hotel for working girls, pasteurized milk, labor laws and corporal punishment in the public schools were morely some of the subjects exhaustively discussed and presumably settled until the next assembly of the organisation.

Committees on membership, philanthropy, finance, printing, cooperation, peace, literature, art, ways and means, press, credentials, huncheon, child labor, membership and a number of other things gave full and apparently edifying reports of what they had done, what they were going to do and what they wished they could be the could do. There was also a musical programme which included the Holland trio of Amsterdam and Mme. Alma Webster Powell, and the man who was present made a

He was Charles R. Lamb, pres the Municipal Art Society of New York. He recommended that the federation continue the work of decorating the public schools which the society he represented had initiated by the gift of two mural paintings to the Morris High School. His reference to the "abasement of our most wonderful natural scenery by hideous advertisements and unsightly buildings" was received with great enthusias

But this was not by any means all. Mrs. Belle de Rivera, after stating that 750 of the 1,000 shares of capital stock of the Federation Hotel had been subscribed for, and making an eloquent appeal on behalf of the working girl who gets $5 a week, sold 203 shares at par from the floor.

203 shares at par from the floor.

A resolution offered by the Equal Suffrage Club indorsing the action of Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch in bringing suit against the Hoffman House because of its refusal to serve her with dinner in the roof garden after 6 o'clock, on the ground that she was unaccompanied by a male escort, was passed unanimously. There was no formal discussion, but a woman in a red and white plaid frock confided to an interested listener that she had had an experience very much like it.

perience very much like it.

"You see, it was after the theatre," said, "and I had an old maid school teae with me that I wanted to be nice to. You can imagine I didn't want to take her to Childs's for a glass of milk."
"Of course not," assented the other,
"Well, we went into that rathskeller near the Waldorf, you know, and sat down at a table, and—well, we just sat there. After a long time a waiter came up and said, 'Madam, are you waiting for some one?'

"'Certainly,' I replied. 'We are waiting for some one to serve us.' The impertinent creature grinned and gazed at us, and then said that he was very sorry, but it was against the rule, and we would have to give think he wouldn't even give to Just think, he wouldn't even give us a glass of beer."

"Outrageous!" murmured the listener.

Mrs. Leonard Wood then offered in behalf of the Business Woman's League a resolution indorsing the effort of the New resolution indorsing the effort of the New York Referendum League to secure an amendment to the constitution providing for the initiative and referendum. After carefully explaining what these two long words meant, much to the indignation of some of the delegates, Mrs. Wood went on to say that the work of the federation in this connection unfortunately could be merely along educational lines.

"Very few men," continued Mrs. Wood, "understand what is meant by the initiative and referendum. It is our business to and referendum. It is our business to educate women in this regard and through them the men. There was applause, and the motion was against the reinstatement of corporal punishment in the public schools, and another requesting the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to set aside at once the sum necessary for the erection of a build-ing for the Washington Irving High School. ing for the Washington Irving High School.

The liveliest discussion of the session was called forth by the suggestion of the Legislative League, that the federation "urge the President and the Congress of the United States to enact the laws necessary to have marriage and divorce regulated by Federal instead of State authority." The general opinion seemed to be that the resolution should be passed unanimously, and there were eager calls of "Question," when a timid looking woman in a dove colored a timid looking woman in a dove colored frock meekly inquired whether such action on the part of the federation would not im-ply a leaning on the part of that body toward "State Socialism" and whether to take this authority away from the States would not be just like curtailing the liberty f an individual.

Mrs. Frederick Nathan remarked that Mrs. Frederick Nathan remarked that the subject was too serious and too complicated for snap action and that so dignified a body as the City Federation should not put itself on record without careful and prolonged debate. Several persons then moved to amend the motion, to withdraw it, to put it on the table, and to vote it down

Eventually it was tabled, and when Mrs. John Fowler Trow, a professional parliamentarian, subsequently insisted upon speaking to it she was promptly called down-by some one in the front row.

HAD SUBSCRIPTION LIST. Police Nab Two Men Collecting for a Gym for "Sheriff's Office."

George Miller and Charles Young, with no home addresses, were yesterday sentenced to six months in the workhouse by Magistrate Breen in the West Side court. The charge against them was vagrancy. but the police found in the possession of Young a document that led them to believe that the men were collecting money for the erection of a clubhouse and gymnasium for the use of the men in the Sheriff's office. Attached to the subscription list was a etter signed by J. H. Harrington, president, and W. J. Goodman, treasurer, emowering George Walters to collect for the Metropolitan Association. The subscription list bore the forged signatures of several list bore the forged signatures of several prominent firms. One man admitted in court that he had paid $10 to Miller believing he was helping a good cause, but Sheriff Hayes's secretary, Al Engel, was on hand to repudiate the Metropolitan Association. He said that from time to time for the past three years the Sheriff's office had heard that two men were circulating a subscription list, but that heretofore the police were never able to get them.

Young and Miller were arrested by Central Office Detectives Wiley and McKeon Thursday night at the corner of Second avenue and Houston street. The detectives said that both of the men had records.

B. R. T. CO.'S NEW LINE. Froiley Cars to Run Through Livingston Street on Monday.

The B. R. T. Company has arranged to start the operation of the new trolley line through Livingston street between Flatbush avenue and Court street on Monday. All the Flatbush and Third avenue cars to and from Manhattan will be run through to and from Mannattan will be run through Livingston street during rush hours.

The tracks on Lafayette avenue between Fulton street and Flatbush avenue have been laid but the cars cannot be operated in view of the pending injunction proceedings instituted by the trustees of the new Academy of Music. Smith, Gray & Co.

Warren St. at Fray } NEW YORK. Fulton St. at Flathuch Av. } STELYN.

SPECIAL MEN'S LIGHT WEIGHT OVERCOATS

$25, former price $35 & $38

On sale this morning, Men's Light Weight Oversouts, full silk lined, lot 41220, black, and 41266, Oxford, have always sold for $38.00, now $25.00. Sizes 35 to 44. At

At our 11st Street and Warren Street Stores you will find the balance of the silk lined fancy overcoats advertised last week at $25.00 and the serge lined at $15.00; quite a good assortment of sizes of both lote; the silk lined sold at $38 and $40. and the serge lined at $25.

Our styles originate from talent strictly under our personal direction-in our own manufactory.

Suits, $15 to $45 Notably in shades of brown and olive.

Overcoats, $15 to $45 The right shapes and lengths, including the new fancy overcoatings.

Fall Scarfs in the Newest Shades and Shapes.

Hackett: Carhart & @

Three Broadway Stores: At Canal St. Near Chambers St. At 13th St.

HOW TO SECURE PURE MILK

DR. DARLINGTON TELLS WHAT THIS CITY IS DOING.

It Makes Systematic and Constant Inspection of Dairies and Creameries and Insists on Clean and Wholesome Conditions in Places Where Milk Is Pro-

Dr. Thomas Darlington, Health Commissioner of this city, read a paper at the meeting of the health officers of the State in Buffalo yesterday on "What Health Departments Can Do to Secure Pure Milk." He said in part:

The problem for a pure milk supply for can guarantee that all milk sold within the city limits is drawn from perfectly healthy and normal cows, housed in comfortable and sanitary quarters, milked by a clean and healthy person into a sterile container, quickly cooled, transported and delivered to the nsumer in a sealed package.

As the major portion of such a guarantee oncerns the health of the cow and the milker and the sanitary condition of the stable and utensils, the proper place to begin corrective work is at the source, "the dairy farm." The milk supply of New York city consists of 1,750,000 quarts of milk daily, which is from about 700 creameries, located in six dif-It is, of co rse, understood that the Department of Health has no authority outside of the geographical limits of the city, but our Sanitary Code provides that "no milk shall be received, held, kept, offered for sale or delivered in the city of New York without a permit from the Board of Health," and the board can withhold or rescind this permit if unsanitary conditions exist at the dairy or creamery where the milk is produced or

New York city has, therefore, th say what pure milk shall be and to forbid entrance to the city of any mil not produced with the proper attention to cleanliness, hygiene and sanitation. It has been the endeavor of the Department of Health to establish and maintain these onditions as regards the milk supply of New York city, first by systematic and constant inspection and second by preventing the sale of any milk not produced under clean and wholesome conditions.

Rules and regulations for the production of sanitary milk were issued and the country division of milk inspection, consisting of sixteen inspectors, with one inspector in charge, is now in the second year of its work of dairy A majority of our city milk dealers now incorporate our rules and regulations in the contract they make with the farmers for their milk. Tenants on farms now discuss with the owner before renting what must be tion satisfactory to the Department of The fact that the farmers are without a market for their milk upless they comply with the rules of the department has been a potent factor in causing them to comply with our orders. The creameries are prac-tically all conforming to our regulation.

and the dairies and farms are being rapidly put into a sanitary condition.
You have heard considerable of the hardships we are thrusting on the farmer, you have heard of the small producers we are driving out of business, but you will be surbeen forced to shut out milk from only forty period or until they had changed or improved

Our requirements can be summed up in which is not necessarily impossible or ex pensive. Our rules concerning the cows pro-vide that they must be kept clean. The rules for stables provide that they must have sufficient light and ventilation:

floors, walls and ceilings must be clean and tight, the interior whitewashed yearly, and all manure must be removed daily. Our rules provide for a milk house, to be used exclusively for the handling and storage of milk. This discourages the old practice of straining, and keeping the milk in the cow barn, where formerly it received its full share of odors, dust and dirt. Our rules provide that no person having any communicable disease or caring for persons having such disease be allowed to handle the milk or milk utensils, and the hands of the milkers must be carefully washed immeiately before milking.

diately after using, and the rinsing of the milk pails in the watering trough will neither suffice nor be tolerated Our rules concerning milk provide that it must be free from preservatives and adul-terations; it must be quickly cooled to 50 de-grees F., and must not be drawn from diseased A copy of our daily rules, printed on linen, is

Utensils must be thoroughly cleaned imme

1.90 Sold Elsewhere More than 30 new blocks. Finest Derbies, 2.75

The saving is about a dollar.

First-class work. The newest

Kennedy 12 CORTLANDT ST

Swagger

Derbies,

styles and our guarantee. ART SALES AND EXHIBITIONS

Books & Autographs at Auction

Merwin-Clayton Sales Co.

20-24 East 20th St., N. Y.

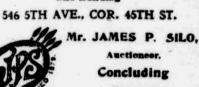

Tues. & Wed., Oct. 22d & 23d. Books on the Fine Arts. Tuesday, Oct. 29th,

A collection of Scarce Books. Wednesday, Oct. 30th.

Autograph Letters & Documents. SALES BEGIN AT 3 O'CLOCK. Catalogue mailed on request.

Mail orders executed without charge. Telephone, 367 Gramercy.

Fifth Ave. Art Galleries. Silo Building

Sale of John Kimberly Mumford's Author of "Oriental Rugs" (Scribner's)

Eastern Rugs and Carpets at 3 o'Clock To-day The Choicest Pieces Will Be Offered This Afternoon methods the exception. With the dairy rules posted, the next step is to see that they are

Our sixteen inspectors are each assigned to a district, through which they move in a sys-tematic way. They first inspect a creamery and ascertain its sanitary condition; they then nspect all dairies drawing to that station before passing to the next. Each inspection is complete in itself, and all of the information obtained is tabulated on cards and mailed to the office in New York. The inspectors average ten inspections a day, and with our present force we cover the entire milk shed once a

Early in this year an important addition was made to the Sanitary Code of the Board of Health. It provides that: "It shall be the duty of all persons having in their possession bottles, cans or other receptacles containing milk or cream, which are used is the transportation and delivery of milk or cream, to clean or cause to be cleaned immediately upon emptying, and no person shall use or cause or allow to be used any other than the holding of milk or cream, or receive or have in his possession any such receptacle so used or which is unclean or in h milk or cream has been allowed to stand until offensive." This section is simply in line with our constant efforts toward ultimate posted in over 30,000 cow barns in our milk shed. These rules are encouraging a uniform production and are making filthy and unclean

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is axative Bromo Oumme Cures a Cold in One Day, Crip in 2 Days 6. M. Show " "